I am indeed obliged to you for your kindness to my son Paul.
You gave him a point of view in this strenuous life that he won't forget.
We have never had a very enjoyable time with you.

Dear Squibb:

The Book of Songs has gone forward promptly to Mrs. Ewing - - thank you.

It is a pleasure to know that your son Paul gave a good report of our meeting. He is a fine lad, on whom I congratulate you. I have been trying for some time to get hold of him - he had not turned up again as I had hoped, and I wanted him to share some of the "Doings" which we have here now and then and which are worth while for anyone, old or young. And some of them I feel convinced would greatly stimulate and please him. I have just written him a note, trying to establish closer communication.

Sorry I couldn't be at the Class Dinner Tuesday - and that I didn't even get a letter there to be read to the Boys. But four weeks ago today I got swatted by a tennis ball in the only seeing eye I have, and have seen nothing since. Which clutters up my program a good deal.

With pleasant memories and all good wishes,

Your Classmate and Friend
